NOTES TO STATEMENT OF FINANCIAL CONDITION
September 30, 2025

NOTE 1 – ORGANIZATION AND BASIS OF PRESENTATION

Organization

Raymond James Financial Services, Inc. (“RJFS,” “we,” “our,” “us,” or the “firm”) is a Florida corporation and a wholly owned subsidiary of Raymond James Financial, Inc. (“RJF” or “Parent”). We support independent contractor financial advisors in providing a comprehensive range of investments and services. We are an introducing broker-dealer registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”) and a member of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (“FINRA”) and National Futures Association (“NFA”). Through our membership in the NFA, we are regulated by the Commodity Futures Trading Commission (“CFTC”).

Basis of presentation

Accounting estimates and assumptions

We conform to our Parent’s fiscal year end of September 30. The preparation of the Statement of Financial Condition in conformity with United States (“U.S.”) generally accepted accounting principles requires us to make certain estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent liabilities at the date of the Statement of Financial Condition. Actual results could differ from those estimates and could have a material impact on the Statement of Financial Condition.

NOTE 2 – SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Accounting guidance recently adopted

In November 2023, the Financial Accounting Standards Board (“FASB”) issued amended guidance related to disclosures for segment reporting (Accounting Standards Update 2023-07). The amendment requires a public entity to disclose on an annual basis, for each reportable segment, the significant segment expenses that are regularly provided to the chief operating decision maker (“CODM”) and included within each reported measure of segment profit or loss. The guidance also requires a public entity to disclose, for each reportable segment, an amount for other segment items (those not captured as a significant expense) and the reported measure of a segment’s profit or loss. We adopted this guidance on a retrospective basis as of October 1, 2024. Since this amendment only requires additional disclosures, adoption did not have an impact on our financial position, results of operations, or cash flows. Refer to the “Segment information” section of this footnote for additional disclosures required by this guidance.

Cash and cash equivalents

Our cash equivalents include money market funds or highly liquid investments with maturities of three months or less as of our date of purchase.

Other receivables, net

We present “Other receivables” on our Statement of Financial Condition, net of any allowance. Net receivables related to contracts with customers were $1 million as of September 30, 2025.

Loans to financial advisors, net

We offer loans to financial advisors for recruiting purposes. The decision to extend credit to a financial advisor is generally based on their ability to generate future revenues. Loans offered are generally repaid over a four to seven year period, and are contingent upon continued affiliation with us. These loans are not assignable by the financial advisor and may only be assigned by us to a successor in interest. In the event that the financial advisor is no longer affiliated with us, any unpaid balance of such loan becomes immediately due and payable to us and generally does not continue to accrue interest. Based upon the nature of these financing receivables, affiliation status (i.e., whether the advisor is actively affiliated with us or has terminated affiliation with us) is the primary credit risk factor within this portfolio. We present the outstanding balance of loans to financial advisors on our Statement of Financial Condition, net of the allowance for credit losses. Refer to the “Allowance for credit losses” section that follows for additional information related to our allowance for credit losses on our loans to financial advisors. See Note 3 for additional information on our loans to financial advisors.

RAYMOND JAMES FINANCIAL SERVICES, INC.

Notes to Statement of Financial Condition

Loans to financial advisors who are actively affiliated with us are considered past due once they are 30 days or more delinquent as to the payment of contractual interest or principal. Such loans are placed on nonaccrual status when we determine that full payment of contractual principal and interest is in doubt, or the loan is past due 180 days or more as to contractual interest or principal. When a loan is placed on nonaccrual status, the accrued and unpaid interest receivable is written-off. Loans are returned to an accrual status when the loans have been brought contractually current with the original terms and have been maintained on a current basis for a reasonable period, generally six months.

When we determine that it is likely a loan will not be collected in full, the loan is evaluated for a potential write down of the carrying value. After consideration of the borrower’s ability to restructure the loan, sources of repayment, and other factors affecting the borrower’s ability to repay the debt, the portion of the loan deemed a confirmed loss, if any, is charged-off. A charge-off is taken against the allowance for credit losses for the difference between the amortized cost and the amount we estimate will ultimately be collected. Additional charge-offs are taken if there is an adverse change in the expected cash flows. Subsequent recoveries, if any, are credited to the allowance once received.

Allowance for credit losses

We evaluate loans to financial advisors to estimate an allowance for credit losses over the remaining life of the financial instrument. The remaining life of these loans is determined by considering contractual terms and expected prepayments, among other factors.

The allowance for credit losses on loans to financial advisors is estimated using credit risk models that incorporate average annual loan-level loss rates and estimated prepayments based on historical data. The qualitative component of our estimate considers internal and external factors that are not incorporated into the quantitative estimate such as the reasonable and supportable forecast period. In estimating an allowance for credit losses on our individually-evaluated loans to financial advisors, we generally take into account the affiliation status of the financial advisor (i.e., whether the advisor is actively affiliated with us or has terminated affiliation with us), the borrower’s ability to restructure the loan, sources of repayment, and other factors affecting the borrower’s ability to repay the debt.

Credit losses are charged-off against the allowance when we believe the uncollectibility of the loan is confirmed. Subsequent recoveries, if any, are credited to the allowance once received.

Contingent liabilities

We recognize liabilities for contingencies when there is an exposure that, when fully analyzed, indicates it is both probable that a liability has been incurred and the amount of loss can be reasonably estimated. Whether a loss is probable, and if so, the estimated range of possible loss, is based upon currently available information and is subject to significant judgment, a variety of assumptions, and uncertainties. When a loss is probable and a range of possible loss can be estimated, we accrue the most likely amount within that range; if the most likely amount of possible loss within that range is not determinable, the minimum amount in the range of loss is accrued. No liability is recognized for those matters which, in management’s judgment, the determination of a reasonable estimate of loss is not possible, or for which a loss is not determined to be probable.

We record liabilities related to legal and regulatory matters in “Other payables” on our Statement of Financial Condition. The determination of these liability amounts requires significant judgment on the part of management. Management considers many factors including, but not limited to: the amount of the claim; the amount of the loss experienced by the client; the basis and validity of the claim; the possibility of wrongdoing on the part of one of our employees or financial advisors; previous results in similar cases; and legal precedents and case law. Each legal and significant regulatory matter is reviewed in each accounting period and the liability balance is adjusted as deemed appropriate by management. Any change in the liability amount is recorded in our Statement of Financial Condition. The actual costs of resolving legal or regulatory matters may be substantially higher or lower than the recorded liability amounts for such matters. See Note 6 for additional information.

Share-based compensation

Certain employees and independent contractors participate in RJF's stock incentive plan, which provides for the issuance of restricted stock unit awards ("RSU"). RJF estimates the fair value of share-based awards on the date of grant. See Note 7 for further information on share-based compensation.

Deferred compensation plans

Certain employees and independent contractors participate in RJF's various deferred compensation plans that provide a return to the participant based upon the performance of various referenced investments. For certain of these plans, RJF invests directly, as a principal in such investments, related to their obligations to perform under the deferred compensation plans. For the Voluntary Deferred Compensation Plan ("VDCP"), Long-Term Incentive Plan ("LTIP"), and certain other plans, RJF purchases and holds corporate-owned life insurance policies on the lives of certain current and former participants to provide a source of funds available to satisfy their obligation under the plan. See Note 7 for additional information.

Income taxes

The results of our operations are included in the consolidated federal and certain consolidated state income tax returns of RJF. As a result of the inclusion in consolidated filings, the majority of income taxes payable and receivable reported on the Statement of Financial Condition are payable to and receivable from RJF. Federal and state income taxes are computed, under a tax sharing agreement with RJF, based on the modified separate return method.

The objective of accounting for income taxes is to recognize the amount of taxes payable or refundable for the current year. We utilize the asset and liability method to provide for income taxes on all transactions recorded in our Statement of Financial Condition. This method requires that income taxes reflect the expected future tax consequences of temporary differences between the carrying amounts of assets or liabilities for book and tax purposes. Accordingly, a deferred tax asset or liability for each temporary difference is determined based on the tax rates that we expect to be in effect when the underlying items of income and expense are realized. Judgment is required in assessing the future tax consequences of events that have been recognized in our Statement of Financial Condition or tax returns. Variations in the actual outcome of these future tax consequences could materially impact our financial position or liquidity. See Note 5 for further information on our income taxes.

Segment information

RJFS has a single reportable segment as the CODM manages the business activities using information of the firm as a whole. The accounting policies of the segment are the same as those described herein in Note 2. RJFS's CODM is the Chief Executive Officer of RJFS, who uses RJFS's pre-tax income to and assess performance. Additionally, the CODM uses excess net capital, which is not a measure of profit and loss, to make operational decisions while maintaining capital adequacy, such as whether to pay dividends. See Note 8 for further information on our net capital requirements.

RAYMOND JAMES FINANCIAL SERVICES, INC.*Notes to Statement of Financial ConditionNOTE 3 – LOANS TO FINANCIAL ADVISORS, NET

Loans to financial advisors are primarily comprised of loans originated as a part of our recruiting activities. See Note 2 for a discussion of our accounting policies related to loans to financial advisors and the related allowance for credit losses. The following table presents the balances for our loans to financial advisors and the related accrued interest receivable.

$ in thousands	September 30, 2025
Affiliated with the firm as of year-end ⁽¹⁾	$ 55,217
No longer affiliated with the firm as of year-end ⁽²⁾	38
Total loans to financial advisors	55,255
Allowance for credit losses	(664)
Loans to financial advisors, net	$ 54,591
Accrued interest receivable on loans to financial advisors (included in “Other receivables, net”)	$ 225
Allowance for credit losses as a percent of total loans to financial advisors	1.20 %

(1) These loans were predominantly current.

(2) These loans were on nonaccrual status and predominantly past due for a period of 180 days or more.

NOTE 4 – RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONS

We participate in related party transactions with affiliates. Receivables from affiliates of $7 thousand are included in “Other receivables, net” on our Statement of Financial Condition at September 30, 2025. “Payables to affiliates, net” of $14.6 million at September 30, 2025, included amounts payable for the related party transactions reflected in the preceding table. The related party transactions that result in these payables are settled monthly.

At September 30, 2025, RJ&A had purchased $33.7 million of receivables related to trailing commissions from mutual funds and annuity products from RJFS.

NOTE 5 – INCOME TAXES

For a discussion of our income tax accounting policies and other income tax-related information see Note 2.

Income taxes

The cumulative effects of temporary differences that give rise to significant portions of the deferred tax asset items are detailed in the following table.

$ in thousands	September 30, 2025
Deferred tax assets:
Deferred compensation	$ 15,368
Accrued expenses	2,063
Other	874
Deferred income taxes, net	$ 18,305

Deferred income taxes are provided for the effects of temporary differences between the tax basis of an asset or liability and its reported amount in the Statement of Financial Condition. Deferred income tax assets are subject to a valuation allowance if, in management’s opinion, it is more likely than not that these benefits will not be realized. As of September 30, 2025, total deferred tax assets aggregated to $18.3 million and solely related to federal and state jurisdictions. We continue to believe that the realization of our deferred tax assets is more likely than not based on expectations of future taxable income, and the ability to net future losses against the company’s future taxable income or the future taxable income of the affiliated group in accordance with the tax sharing agreement. As a result, our deferred tax asset required no valuation allowance at September 30, 2025.

As of September 30, 2025, the current tax receivable, which was included in “Other receivables, net” on our Statement of

RAYMOND JAMES FINANCIAL SERVICES, INC.Notes to Statement of Financial Condition

Financial Condition, was $5.5 million, which was primarily due from RJF for anticipated taxes due from state jurisdictions. The current tax payable, which was included in “Other payables” on our Statement of Financial Condition, was $2.2 million due to RJF for anticipated taxes due in the U.S. federal jurisdiction.

The following table presents the aggregate changes in the balances for uncertain tax positions.

$ in thousands	Year ended September 30, 2025
Uncertain tax positions beginning of year	$ 3,729
Increases for tax positions related to the current year	707
Decreases for tax positions related to the current year	(134)
Decreases due to statute of limitations expirations	(625)
Uncertain tax positions end of year	$ 3,677

The total amount of uncertain tax positions that, if recognized, would impact the effective tax rate (the items included in the preceding table after considering the federal tax benefit associated with any state tax provisions) was $2.9 million at September 30, 2025. We anticipate that the uncertain tax position balance will decrease by approximately $691 thousand over the next 12 months due to expiring statutes of limitations.

RJFS is no longer subject to U.S. federal income tax examinations by tax authorities for fiscal years prior to fiscal 2022. With limited exceptions, we are no longer subject to tax examinations by tax authorities for state and local jurisdictions for fiscal years prior to fiscal 2021. Certain state and local tax returns are currently under various stages of audit and appeals processes.

NOTE 6 – COMMITMENTS AND CONTINGENCIESLending commitments and other credit-related financial instruments

We offer loans to prospective financial advisors for recruiting purposes (see Notes 2 and 3 for additional information regarding our loans to financial advisors). These offers are contingent upon certain events occurring, including the individuals joining us and meeting certain other conditions outlined in their offer. We have no unfunded commitments for loans to financial advisors who have met such conditions as of September 30, 2025.

Legal and regulatory matters contingencies

In the normal course of our business, we have been named, from time to time, as a defendant in various legal actions, including arbitrations, class actions and other litigation, arising in connection with our activities.

We are subject to regular reviews and inspections by regulatory authorities and self-regulatory organizations (“SROs”). Reviews can result in the imposition of sanctions for regulatory violations, ranging from non-monetary censures to fines and, in serious cases, temporary or permanent suspension from conducting business, or limitations on certain business activities. In addition, regulatory agencies and SROs institute investigations from time to time into industry practices, among other things, which can also result in the imposition of such sanctions.

We may contest liability and/or the amount of damages, as appropriate, in each pending matter. The level of litigation and investigatory activity (both formal and informal) by government and self-regulatory agencies in the financial services industry continues to be significant. There can be no assurance that material losses will not be incurred from claims that have not yet been asserted or are not yet determined to be material.

For many legal and regulatory matters, we are unable to estimate a range of reasonably possible loss as we cannot predict if, how or when such proceedings or investigations will be resolved or what the eventual settlement, fine, penalty or other relief, if any, may be. A large number of factors may contribute to this inherent unpredictability: the proceeding is in its early stages; the damages sought are unspecified, unsupported or uncertain; it is unclear whether a case brought as a class action will be allowed to proceed on that basis; the other party is seeking relief other than or in addition to compensatory damages (including, in the case of regulatory and governmental proceedings, potential fines and penalties); the matters present significant legal uncertainties; we have not engaged in settlement discussions; discovery is not complete; there are significant facts in dispute; and numerous parties are named as defendants (including where it is uncertain how liability might be shared among defendants). Subject to the foregoing, after consultation with counsel, we believe that the outcome of such litigation and regulatory proceedings will not have a material adverse effect on our financial condition.

There are certain matters for which we are unable to estimate the upper end of the range of reasonably possible loss. With respect to legal and regulatory matters for which management has been able to estimate a range of reasonably possible loss as of September 30, 2025, the estimated upper end of the range of reasonably possible aggregate loss was approximately $5 million in excess of the aggregate accruals for such matters. Refer to Note 2 for a discussion of our criteria for recognizing liabilities for contingencies.

NOTE 7 – SHARE-BASED AND OTHER COMPENSATION PLANS

Share-based and other compensation

We participate, along with other affiliated companies, in various qualified and non-qualified savings and stock incentive plans of RJF. RJF allocates the cost of providing these plans to RJFS based on actual cost per employee.

The profit-sharing plan and employee stock ownership plan are qualified plans that provide certain death, disability or retirement benefits for all employees who meet certain service requirements. The plans are noncontributory and contributions by RJF, if any, are determined annually by RJF's Board of Directors, or a committee thereof, on a discretionary basis. Benefits become fully vested after five years of qualified service, age 65, or if a participant separates from service due to death or disability.

RJFS participates in RJF's 401(k) plan, which is a qualified plan that may provide for a discretionary contribution or a matching contribution each year. Matching contributions are 75% of the first $1,000 and 25% of the next $1,000 of eligible compensation deferred by each participant annually.

The LTIP is a non-qualified deferred compensation plan that provides benefits to certain employees who meet certain compensation or production requirements.

Contributions to the qualified plans and the LTIP are approved annually by RJF's Board of Directors or a committee thereof.

RJF's VDCP is a non-qualified deferred compensation plan for certain employees, in which eligible participants may elect to defer a percentage or specific dollar amount of their compensation.

Under RJF's stock incentive plan, certain RJFS employees and independent contractor financial advisors may be granted RSU awards.

Employee stock purchase plan

The employee stock purchase plan allows employees to periodically purchase RJF's common stock at a 15% discount. Share purchases in any calendar year are limited to the lesser of 1,000 shares or shares with a fair market value of $25,000. The purchase price of the stock is 85% of the average high and low market share price on the day prior to the purchase date.

Other compensation

We offer non-qualified deferred compensation plans that provide benefits to our independent contractor financial advisors who meet certain production requirements. Management approves and funds contributions periodically throughout each plan year.

Certain independent contractor financial advisors are also eligible to participate in RJF's VDCP. Eligible participants may elect to defer a percentage or specific dollar amount of their compensation into the VDCP.

RAYMOND JAMES FINANCIAL SERVICES, INC.*Notes to Statement of Financial ConditionNOTE 8 – NET CAPITAL REQUIREMENTS

As a registered broker-dealer, we are subject to the requirements of the Uniform Net Capital Rule (“Rule 15c3-1”) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. As a member firm of FINRA and as an introducing broker registered with the NFA, we are subject to FINRA’s and the CFTC’s capital requirements, respectively, both of which are substantially the same as Rule 15c3-1. Rule 15c3-1 provides for an “alternative net capital requirement,” which we have elected. Regulations require that minimum net capital, as defined, be equal to the greater of $250,000 or 2% of aggregate debit items arising from client balances. FINRA may impose certain restrictions, such as restricting withdrawals of equity capital, if a member firm were to fall below a certain threshold or fail to meet minimum net capital requirements. As of September 30, 2025, we had no aggregate debit items and, therefore, the minimum net capital of $250,000 is applicable. The following table presents our net capital position.

$ in thousands	September 30, 2025

Net capital	$ 32,332
Less: required net capital	(250)
Excess net capital	$ 32,082
